

Grad Slam 2019

It's that time of year again!

Want an opportunity to practice articulating your research and its importance in a clear, engaging way? How about a chance to win thousands of dollars for doing it?

Grad Slam is an annual UC-wide graduate student competition in public speaking open to all UCR grad students.

Graduate Division awards a $5,000 fellowship to the best 3-minute talk by a UCR graduate student about their research or creative project.

This winner advances to the UCOP Finals for a chance to win an additional $6,000 fellowship.
